

SELECTION CRITERIA

LECTURER / SENIOR LECTURER IN RUMINANT MEDICINE
FACULTY OF VETERINARY SCIENCE, CAMDEN CAMPUS
REFERENCE NO. 001/0114

ESSENTIAL QUALIFICATIONS (LEVEL B AND C)

Specialist or memberships in speciality

- A veterinary degree registrable in NSW
- Advanced qualification in Ruminant health (Membership Australian College of Veterinary Scientists or equivalent)

ESSENTIAL CRITERIA (LEVEL B AND C)

- Demonstrated established track record in research in livestock health
- Experience in postgraduate teaching in livestock health
- Demonstrated grant funding track record in research in production animal health and production
- Relevant industry professional experience in livestock (particularly beef and small ruminant) health and production
- Experience in undergraduate teaching in veterinary and animal science in livestock health and production
- Experience in effectively managing multiple staff
- Excellent communication skills, and a demonstrated ability to work as part of a team
- Current valid NSW driving licence or ability to obtain NSW driver's licence by the start of employment
- Willingness to comply with the University's Work & Safety policy and Code of Conduct (including drug and alcohol usage)
- Advanced organisational and time management skills
- Willingness to undertake the Graduate Certificate in Education Studies (Higher Education) or a comparable PG course in teaching and learning

DESIRABLE CRITERIA AT LEVEL B AND ESSENTIAL CRITERIA AT LEVEL C

- Experience in postgraduate teaching in livestock health
- Experience in strategic planning of hospital services
- Demonstrated grant funding track record in research in production animal health and production

DESIRABLE CRITERIA AT LEVEL B/C

- A specialist qualification in ruminant health registrable in NSW
- PhD in the area of livestock health with quality publications